New Explorer Squad To Explore Aviation

An interest in aviation by about two dozen Canyon youngsters who realize air travel is here to stay has spawned the city's first Explorer Scout Air Squadron.

The squadron, which boasts a membership of 20 high school and college students, is under the supervision of Chuck Allen, institutional representative, and the Rev. Baldwin Stribling, squadron councilman.

Explorer Squadron Number 1 was formed about two months ago as a result of some investigation into such a group by Allen. He visited other Explorer squadrons and decided a group in Canyon would help satiate and maybe even increase the interest in flying of several city youths.

Allen said the squadron is being instructed on the ground in basic flying procedures. Each Explorer takes one to three orientation flights given by local pilots.

Manuals, maps, plotters and other navigation and study devices are provided the scouts for their studies.

Allen said the basic idea behind the Explorer squadron is to expose the participants to something new and interesting. With the course of instruction the group receives, each member could, if he desired, take a Federal Aviation Agency examination qualifying him for a pilot's license.

Allen said, though, a flight instruction course must also be completed before a license is issued.

He said probably not many of the Explorers will pursue the course long enough to receive a pilot's license.

Eleven separate short courses make up the entire course of instruction for the Explorers, Allen said. Included is instruction on oxygen, altitude and the body; pre-flight facts; flight maneuvers; FAA regulations; airplane weights and balances; radio communication; basic navigation; basic radio navigation; and basic computer.

During the course, the Explorers will learn to plot courses, to navigate airplanes and proper maintenance.

Allen said plans are also being laid for the squadron to purchase or lease its own airplane, to be hangared at the

The city began putting the bite on proliferating mosquitoes this week as its annual spray campaign was initiated.

City Manager Paul Davis said the city plans to build a new device which may aid in eradication of the insects.

The device is a mosquito trap, a contraption pioneered in Plainview which catches mosquitoes so they may be counted.

Davis said the number of mosquitoes captured in the cage-like device is proportionate to the number at-large in the area. He said the trap will probably be used in various parts of the city to determine the number of mosquitoes in each part so spray priorities can be worked out.

The trap uses a light bulb as bait. When mosquitoes are attracted to the bulb, they are pulled into a receptacle below the bulb by a propeller. A tablet of poison in the receptacle kills the mosquitoes.

In the meantime, spraying, which began Monday in Canyon, will continue twice daily throughout the summer months.

Davis said the chemical dust carries about 600 yards when sprayed and will be sprayed into alleys and streets.

He said the entire city will be sprayed about twice a week. Spraying will be done only in the early mornings and late at night, he said, because these are times when wind is light and the spray is most effective.

In addition, the city is also covering all open, water filled locations with a thin layer of diesel oil to suffocate existing larva and prevent future breeding.

The Texas State Department of Health warns that "some mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water where they hatch in a day or two. Other mosquitoes lay their eggs in old tires, tin cans or other water-holding containers in which they may remain unhatched for weeks or months until they are covered with water."

The department said mosquitoes can carry diseases such as encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue, and malaria.

The department urges residents to "empty, remove, cover or turn upside down any receptacle that would hold water--particularly old bottles and tin cans.

"Change water and scrub vases holding flowers or cuttings twice each week--or grow cuttings in sand.

"Discard old tires or store them indoors.

"Screen rain barrels and openings to water tanks or cisterns. Seal cisterns not in actual use.

"Repair leaky plumbing and outside faucets. They may cause standing water.

"Connect open waste-water drains to a sewage system, or construct separate sump or leach lines.

"Clean clogged roof gutters and drain flat roofs.

"Fill holes in trees with sand or mortar, or drain or spray them, as required.

"Stock ornamental ponds with mosquito eating fish.

"Clean and drain evaporative coolers frequently."

Man, 29, Indicted In Rape Of Girl

Jerry Lee Williams, 29, Palisades, was indicted Wednesday on a charge of forcible rape in connection with the alleged rape of a 13-year-old Amarillo girl last Friday.

Williams was indicted on two counts, one charging forcible rape and the other charging statutory rape.

He was arraigned immediately before District Judge E. E. Jordan and remained in Randall County jail late Wednesday in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Sporting a drooping mustache and a flapping shirt tail Williams answered Judge Jordan's questions in an almost inaudible tone.

The girl told a story of having been chased, manhandled, disrobed and raped by the burly Williams.

She said she and two friends, a boy and a girl, played "hook-ey" from school Friday and went to the Palisades. They went swimming and then about 6 o'clock in the afternoon went for a soft drink.

It was then that she encountered Williams. In the course of conversation she said she learned that Williams had known her mother several years ago at Pampa.

The child's two original companions departed for Amarillo and she went to a cabin with a youth about her own age.

She said Williams and another boy came and ran the youth away.

She said Williams then twisted her arm and threw her on the bed in the cabin. She related that she bit him and he got up.

She fled from the cabin and was pursued by Williams, according to her story. She said Williams caught her and the two fell over an embankment.

She said it was then that she was raped.

She told of having fled from the scene putting on her clothes as she ran. She spent Friday night with a Palisades family and then Saturday and Sunday (See RAPE, Page 12) afternoon of July 14 in the commissioners court room.

A representative of Santa Fe Railway showed up at the commissioners court meeting to complain about valuation of railroad property but soon found himself on the defensive.

Bill Brown told the court that under this year's valuation Santa Fe's assessed valuation is going to be up $48,000 over last year.

He urged the court to use valuation set by Canyon Independent School District noting that this would place Santa Fe property up only about $14,000.

Members of the court tried to persuade Brown to say how much it would cost to build a mile of railroad under present conditions. The railway official declined to say.

Hefty Tax Hikes Given City Banks

Canyon's two banks took the heaviest raises in taxes in the county this year.

Actual taxes assessed First National Bank and West Texas State Bank, both Canyon institutions, have been almost tripled in spite of a lower tax rate.

First National has been assessed $2,399.98 this year as compared to $971.72 last year and West Texas State Bank has been assessed $1,109.40 this year as compared to $340.22 last year.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax assessor-collector, explained that taxation this year is being rigidly based on capital stock, undivided profits and surplus of the two institutions.

Commissioners reviewed tax assessments Monday afternoon in preparation for a meeting with the public at 1 o'clock the

DPS Head Blasts SDS; Society Names Officers

Students for a Democratic Society were blasted as hard core revolutionists last Saturday night by the director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"We are being attacked from within as this country has not been attacked," Colonel Wilson Speir told members of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society at the group's 48th annual meeting.

The banquet gathering was held in Howard Johnson Restaurant in Amarillo.

Speir said the university campus is being made a place of revolution by a few.

These people are not innocent dissenters, he declared. "They do not represent positive ideas to better this country," the colonel went on.

He said much of the trouble is being caused by a small percentage of hard core revolutionists and named the SDS as a part of that hard core.

"We have a tremendous responsibility," said the Department of Public Safety director calling for support by the Texas citizenry.

Earlier Colonel Speir outlined the history of the Texas Rangers which pre-dates the Republic of Texas.

He made mention of several Rangers who have been prominent in the development of the Panhandle including M. T. "Lone Wolf" Gonzales and Captain Bob Crowder.

In a business meeting Saturday afternoon Robert Carr Vincent, a Boise City, Okla., rancher was named president of the society. He replaces Senator Grady Hazlewood in that capacity.

Virgil Patterson, Amarillo banker, was elected first vice president and Joe Mabey of Midland was named second vice president.

C. Boone McClure was re-elected executive secretary and treasurer of the society. Mrs. S. B. Whittenburg of Amarillo (See DPS, Page 12)

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

A group of clergymen of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths has made public a letter to President Nixon demanding a "clear statement" of American intentions in Vietnam, according to the newspaper, Christian Economics.

The letter says the group will hold the Nixon administration "accountable for the continued suffering and death" in Vietnam.

"Mr. President, you have a clear mandate to bring a speedy and peaceful end to the Vietnam conflict," the statement continues.

The clergymen make it clear that they want this country to accept any terms laid down by Ho Chi Minh. I don't think they are really interested in stopping "suffering and death".

The day American troops unilaterally pull out of Vietnam and leave the country to Ho and his bandits will herald suffering and death in that country on a scale never witnessed in this world before. It will be America's friends who will die by the millions. Maybe this will be more acceptable to the "leading clergymen."

It is curious to me that these men of the cloth who seem to be continually pleading the cause of this country's enemies have never had anything to say about the suffering being inflicted by the communists in Vietnam.

The Reds have indiscriminately shelled and rocketed centers of population which were of no strategic importance. They have tortured and mutilated civilians, imposing a reign of terror.

Why haven't these "leading clergymen" had something to say on this score?

Do these "clergymen" think it is more Christian for Ho's forces to bombard women and children in Saigon than for American troops in the field to defend themselves?

I was personally blasted by a member of TV Channel 10's Religious Questions panel a week or so ago because I took issue with ministers involving themselves in politics.

My statement was that ministers who do so must forfeit whatever immunity to criticism the cloth might previously have afforded them.

One member of the panel attempted to put me down by merely saying "Troy Martin doesn't know much about religion," or something to that effect.

His use of sarcasm was an old trick to divert attention from the real issues being raised.

No member of the panel attempted to answer my criticism of the contention by panel members that Red dictators are reasonable people and that we should try to negotiate with them.

I had pointed out that communist dictators historically are murderers. I cited the Katyn massacre in Poland, purges in Russia in which millions were killed without so much as a single trial and torture, rape, plunder and murder in Red China as well as in North Vietnam. I still challenge the Religious Questions panel to comment on these bits of recent history and continue to defend their contention that Peking, Hanoi and Moscow are ruled by reasonable people whose word we can trust.

Religious Questions is not representative of Panhandle church people.

I do not believe that the ministers who appear on the program represent the main stream of thought even in their own denominations.

As I have said before, I usually do not comment on any group with a religious tie. However, I do not believe the TV "panel" in question is an open discussion of issues.

It is a program designed more to propagandize than to inform. Therefore, I would be derelict in my duty if I were to withhold comment.

I heard a half-hour television diatribe by Kathleen Cleaver, wife of fugitive Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Cleaver called for revolution in this country... a complete change.

She blasted the US and its institutions. The thing that bothers me is that her father is a high ranking official in the US State Department.

Some of the people like the Students for a Democratic Society who advocate revolution would do well to ponder a little history.

Revolution usually devours her children.

The three leading architects of the French Revolution, Robespierre, Hebert and Danton, all were guillotined. Leon Trotsky -- Russian Revolution -- did not escape.

It is simply sound Machiavellian theory that the first act of those who rise to power by force must be to utterly destroy those who helped them rise.

The man who wrote The Prince logically points out that this quickly forestalls palace revolutions and dispenses with demands to share the spoils.

Letter To The Editor

May 27, 1969

Dear Editor:

Last night we attended a play in the Junior High Auditorium. Mr. Murray, the choir director, was very careful to point out that the play had been written, cast, directed and completely put on by the ninth grade choir without his help. But being the mother of one of the cast I know how much time and work Mr. Murray has put in directing and teaching the choir over the past years. Without his help and direction in the past the choir would have never had the knowledge to do as fine a production as the play was.

So at this time I would like to use this means to thank Mr. Murray for the fine job he has done in leading this choir. We are very fortunate indeed to have someone in our schools who is as dedicated to his work as Mr. Murray is.

Please do not publish my name as I think my feelings are shared by all the parents whose children have Mr. Murray as choir director. Just sign this letter

Parking Ordinance Overturned

Parking will remain on both sides of 23rd Street and on two blocks of 4th Avenue as a result of balloting last Friday.

Voters overturned a no-parking law passed by the City Commission in April by a vote of 345 for and 405 against.

The voting was a near-record of 750 persons.

Mayor Paul Lindsey said as a result of the election the commission will probably not pursue any more traffic control improvements on 23rd Street.

"The commission, I'm sure, will feel that we have done all we could do from the safety standpoint," he said. "The people have said 'no' and we will abide by the decision of the people."

Commencement Tonite At HHS

Commencement exercises for graduating seniors at Happy High School will be tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock in the HHS auditorium.

Honor graduates for the class are Wickey Culp, valedictorian, and Debra Currie, salutatorian.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

It is quite possible there are more factors behind student unrest than meet the eye.

In a certain denominational college, a favorite professor is elected annually by popular vote of the student body. At the presentation of the coveted award, an announcement is made of the exact number of votes polled by each professor. Cruel? Perhaps. But it could be very effective.

One instructor who had taught for several years at the college, and had never received a single vote, defended her ego by contending she was not there to be popular but to teach. The teacher's sour-grapes remark further exposed her inadequacy. Even the dullest student is aware that the more he admires a teacher, the more likely he is to strive to reach his potential in that class.

In spite of this fact, there are few quicker ways to gain disfavor with the authorities in almost any school system than to be popular with students. The said sour-grapes teacher remained at the college until she chose to leave. The other teacher--a department head, no less--was "invited" to leave after winning the favorite-professor award for two consecutive years.

The charge? He did not project the desired image.

The truth? He really enjoyed teaching, and his students loved him because he made learning interesting, informative, useful, and pleasant. Therefore, he incurred the envy of his colleagues, and "who can stand before envy?"

Almost any time there is a deluge of requests for a particular teacher's course, that teacher is not likely to be available the next semester.

The excellent first-grade teacher referred to last week was beloved by both students and parents, yet she was rejected by school administrators in two states. This kind of tactics infuriates students, and creates far more drop-out teachers than there are drop-out students. Yet it is such an insidious thing that students and teachers feel helpless to combat it.

Then there is the problem of the inoffensive but inefficient teachers, and the sweet but senile ones that students are too generous to condemn. Include the dull, the boring, and the lazy ones; and, of course, the few sadists that students dare not even question, and it adds up to a tremendous amount of frustration and hostility.

Students are relatively unaware of the value of school administrators. The teachers project the image of any school--from kindergarten to doctoral programs. When the preferences of students and parents relative to teachers are ignored or flouted, it is bound to generate hostilities.

The rewarding of mediocrity and the punitive measures against superior teaching have pushed hosts of productive teachers out of our public schools. Actually, the faculties are largely composed of three types: The truly dedicated teacher who has learned to cope or compromise for the sake of his beloved profession; the novice who only teaches until he can find a better paying job; and the incompetent who may despise students and teaching, but he will conform--at least outwardly--to any administrative rule that will shelter him from a world in which he cannot compete.

High-school graduates usually enter college expecting to have a choice of courses and instructors, and to escape some of the petty regimentations they are often subjected to in public school. When they find they have even less choice of subjects and instructors, and more regimentation (24 hours as compared to 8), it is easy for the unstable ones to become so embittered that they may follow the professional revolutionists into real troublemaking.

Human beings are marvelously adaptable. If productivity is rewarded, they produce; if it is penalized, they desist. Students pay the price for incompetent, irritating, and vindictive teachers; and a few of them openly rebel.

If we want to save our schools, why not eliminate the genuine grievances: poor teachers; boring, useless courses; and any unnecessary regimentation?

Texas Role Studied For Civil War Years

A five-year program was set up in 1960 by the State Historical Survey Committee to find out what part Texas played in the Civil War.

According to Mrs. T. B. McCarter, local member of the Randall County Historical Survey Committee, "little credit had been given to Texas by previous historians for the Civil War record" and thus priority was given to locating Civil War veterans buried in Texas Cemeteries.

On Memorial Day, Friday, the American Legion will honor war veterans who helped build the country.

Mrs. McCarter, with the help of Roland Black, Mrs. Ted Reid, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Campfield, Ray Batenhorst and T. W. Henderson have made a survey of the county cemetery to locate men whose recorded dates made them eligible for Civil War service.

Thirty-three during this period were located and through four years of intensive research Mrs. McCarter has confirmed records of eighteen of the thirty-three who served in the Civil War. There were eleven, not included in the original thirty-three, with the organizational unit in which they served inscribed on the monument.

The eleven have been recognized annually in the Memorial Services here. They include Captain W. R. Bean, R. M. Key, Wesley J. Redfern, T. F. Reid, J. A. Steen, T. F. Robinson, James Madison Vansant, Henry Wiggins, Samuel E. Williams, William F. Heller and John Pipkin.

The list of eighteen added have included: Thomas Dean Coffee, George W. Avent, John W. Leonard, Thomas Jefferson Morris, John Rusk, Thomas Adam Foster, George W. Palmer, George Newton Caler, Amos C. Pipkin, Harris W. Morrison, John W. Cowart, Francis R. Lester, William Gil-land, Oliver P. Slack, Nicola Thompson, Elias S. Bechtel, Isaac T. Reeves and Craven Pope Hileman.

These are a few of the thirty-three whose relatives were sure of action in the Civil War, but no records could be found, according to Mrs. McCarter.

Five of the 29 Civil War veterans buried in Randall County were listed with the Union Army. Civil war markers giving the organizational unit have been placed at the graves of the eighteen with proven records.

Jerry LaGrone and the late County Judge Lloyd King were in charge of handling and setting up the memorial markers.

According to Mrs. McCarter "every lead was followed up sometimes requiring many letters to various parts of the United States for one man, as certain information was re-

Death Ruled As Accident

Accidental death due to gunshot wound was the ruling last week in the death of William Henry Baker, 24, according to W. W. Hancock, justice of the peace, acting as coroner.

Tole Painting Topic Of Meet

Palo Duro Rusk Home Demonstration Club was presented a program on tole painting by Mrs. Bill Thomas Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Clem Dugan.

Mrs. Thomas explained that "tole painting originated in Europe, mostly in the countries of France, England and Germany. Most of the tole painting came to this country during the 18th century to the New England states, especially among the Pennsylvania Dutch people. They used very bright colors and brides often had tole painting on their dowry chests. Chairs were tole painted and gradually the change was made from wood to tin for painting."

Andy Hanson was chosen to attend the Ninth Annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium to be held in Austin June 2 through June 6.

The trip, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company, will be provided for a student and teacher from each of several area schools.

Andy was chosen by his high grades in the physics class at Canyon High School. His teacher is Mrs. Treasure Brasher. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanson.

Mrs. Jim Smith is planning to teach in the fourth grade at Gene Howe School next fall.

She earned her BS degree in elementary education at North-eastern Teachers State College at Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Softball and hardball teams are being organized in the Gene Howe area now.

In softball, three boys teams and one girls' team have already begun practice, as well as one hardball team. Essentially, there are three more teams on roster to be processed, according to Mrs. Leonard Schmidt.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Turner are Mrs. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Womack who are visit-

Education Pays Off Says Harlow After 12 Years

"Education pays off in the long run," according to W. D. Harlow, West Texas State University graduate who attended night school for 12 years in order to receive a degree. He received a bachelor of business administration degree in the May 18 convocation of WTSU.

At age 17, he dropped out of Harlandale High School, San Antonio, and joined the Navy. When he came out of the service, he decided to go to college. "I wasn't sure I could do it," he said.

He first went to San Antonio Junior College and later to Saint Mary's University where he originally planned to go into law. He changed his major to computer science, however, when he received a job transfer which brought him to the panhandle area. "WT didn't offer law," he said.

The going was rough and he wanted to quit several times, he said, but he always went back. Through encouragement from friends and through determination, he finally finished undergraduate work in January, 1969.

Commenting on her feelings about his graduation, his wife Bette said, "I'm so glad--

Firemen Place Signs At City Swim Areas

Canyon firemen will be placing warning signs at all swimming pools, public and private, in the next few weeks, according to Capt. Joe Rice.

Rice said the signs will ask residents with pools to call the fire department at 655-2158 for resuscitator in case of drowning or chlorine leak accidents.

There are about 16 pools in the city.

"We're trying to prevent a tragedy," Rice said. "Time is of the utmost importance."

He urged pool owners to post the sign at poolside to save time.

"In the event of a drowning or chlorine leak some method of artificial respiration needs to be started immediately," he said. "The main thing is to know who to call and what to do as quickly as possible."

Rice said pool owners who are not given one of the signs can call the department at 655-4741.

Umbarger School Will Be Opened

The Umbarger school will remain open in six grades next year, according to Jerry Jacobs, superintendent of Canyon Independent School District.

Jacobs said a survey of parents in the old Umbarger Common School District revealed that 37 students will remain in the school if it is open next fall.

The school this year had about 60 students in eight grades.

The Canyon district annexed the Umbarger district May 16 at the Umbarger school board's request.

The survey indicates six students will attend the first grade, five the second grade, seven the third, seven the fourth, five the fifth and seven the sixth.

CHS Sponsors Youth Employment

Canyon High School will operate a youth employment project this summer in an effort to assist students in finding work during the summer.

Students desiring jobs are asked to register on special forms which may be obtained from the high school principal's office.

The form indicates job interests and experience. Some areas of interest and experience indicated by students are farm work, office, housework, yardwork, construction, garage, dishwashers, carhop and store clerks.

Residents and employers interested in extra or permanent help during the summer may contact the Director of Program Development, Canyon Secondary Schools, phone 655-2168 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon daily.

Students, between the ages of 15-19, will be made aware of prospective employers in order that they may make application for existing jobs. Prospective employers may wish to contact students directly after receiving the names and qualifications of students seeking summer work.

The youth employment project will serve as a clearing house.

BRING YOU THE HYBRIDS THAT PRODUCE GREATER YIELDS

T-700

A red-seeded full season hybrid released in 1967. T-700 is capable of yields over 10,000 lbs. per acre where fertility and moisture are adequate. T-700 shows excellent early vigor even in cool-early season soils. Stands well and threshes easily.

1015R

A new early maturing hybrid released in 1968. Dwarf breeding makes this a short statured hybrid with excellent standability for dryland or late planted grain sorghums on irrigated or dry land. 1015R matures 3 to 6 days earlier than RS625. Yields in the top group of its maturity class.

202R

Our great all-purpose hybrids that are making outstanding yields everywhere. This short stalk drought tolerant hybrid has proven to be one of the best for farmers who want an early maturing variety.

2025R

2025R carries the same excellent characteristics of 202R — plus smut resistance. Blooms approximately one day earlier in most cases.

404R

Full season hybrid for the High Plains irrigated, high fertility areas. Consistently the top or near top hybrid in area research tests. Stands well and threshes easily. White seeded.

4045R

Smut resistant, full season hybrid for South Texas and central areas. Red-seeded and an outstanding producer in high fertility areas.

This is a medium, full season hybrid in the High Plains irrigated area.

HY-R-GRAZE

Our great Sorghum and Sweet Sudangrass hybrid. Sweet Sudangrass parent makes Hy-R-Graze very palatable yet gives big fast growth all season. Hy-R-Graze has a record of good emergence in cold soils.

3035R

Smut resistant brother of the popular 303R. Medium maturity with outstanding root system and short sturdy stalks for excellent standability and high yield potential.

CERTIFIED VARIETIES DEVELOPED AND RELEASED BY
TEXAS AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

RS 671

A medium maturing smut-resistant hybrid. Matures about like Texas 660 and yields more on a shorter stalk.

RS 626

Has short, sturdy stalks, is smut-resistant and will yield about the same as RS 610.

RS 625

This is a short-stalk smut-resistant hybrid, has a good yield record and will mature as early as RS 608.

Weight Attitude Changing With Additional Research

A slide series on the "Changing Attitudes Toward Weight Control" is the basis for a program this month by Mrs. Becky Hall, home demonstration agent.

The program is being presented for the ten HD clubs in the county during May.

"Ideas of what is fashionable change--and the figure necessary to wear that fashion varies with the change," said Mrs. Hall explaining that "attitudes toward weight control change too."

"In the past, obesity was considered a matter of simple gluttony. But now we recognize that many factors influence the weight of an individual," Mrs. Hall related.

Importance attached to factors other than overeating have changed in recent years according to the slide series which discusses overweight or overfat, heredity, food and exercise.

Overweight or overfat--the thinking now is that an excessive percentage of body fat should be the criterion for judging obesity rather than body weight alone. Similarly, additional knowledge and changes in our way of living have altered the way we view food, exercise and heredity in relation to weight control.

Homemaker of the Week, Mrs. Billy R. Smith, shares three favorite recipes with our readers this week.

Mrs. Smith, the former Ruth Capshaw, was raised at Ponca City Oklahoma. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Capshaw of Ponca City and has a brother, Archie, in Ponca City.

Mrs. Hall's program is concluded with distribution of various literature such as "You're As Old As You Eat" by extension specialists and "Calories and Weight", a USDA pocket guide, in addition to a reference guide "Nutrition Today", an independent scientific publication which is quarterly.

Gene Howe Classes End World Study

Students of the 4th grade social studies class at Gene Howe School recently had their parents to visit the classroom so they could show what they had learned about countries studied individually by each child. The theme for the activity was "Where In The World Are You".

The children were required to make a travel guide poster, share foods, gather some type of clothing pertaining to, and give a 5 minute talk on the country they studied as though they were tourist guides.

Twenty-seven students participated in the event that included a study of such countries as Mexico, Hawaii, Switzerland, Netherlands, Africa, Japan, Australia, and many major points in the United States.

Foods brought from home and shared were chocolate, rice, cheese, pineapple, fish, wheat, sugar and many others.

The teacher of the class is Mrs. Marcia Eavenson of Canyon.

"We once thought that only family food patterns, and the family cook were inherited," stated Mrs. Hall.

"Now we recognize that genetics may play a role in the accumulation of body fat in some individuals and this knowledge may be used to prevent obesity particularly in childhood. If a child has an inherited tendency to gain weight easily it is wise to watch his weight gain carefully throughout childhood. Particular attention should be given at periods where rapid gain is common such as the early school years, during pre-adolescence and during late adolescence as the growth spurt slows."

The possible role of heredity is another changing attitude in weight control and the changing family food patterns.

"But lest we use heredity as a scapegoat remember that all expanding waistlines cannot be blamed on the parents, but rather also on overeating and under-exercising."

"Emphasis given to exercise as a weight control measure has also changed during the past 10-15 years. Once the main exercise thought to be of much value was pushing yourself away from the table."

A graduate of Ponca City High School, Mrs. Smith attended Oklahoma State University in Stillwater for two years where she met and married her husband, who was then a first lieutenant and instructor in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the school.

He was a native of Knoxville, Tennessee. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Smith, Sr., still live in Knoxville, a brother, Marion, Jr. is in Winston Salem, North Carolina and sister, Linda is of the home.

"We spent our first year at Stillwater," said Mrs. Smith. "Since then we have been stationed all around. We were at Fort Benning, Georgia; Ft. Jackson, South Carolina; and then when he went to Vietnam I came home. He returned and we were at Fort Bragg, North Carolina for about 18 months and when he went back to Vietnam, I came home again."

The couple returned to Fort Bragg after his second tour duty in Vietnam and then moved to Canyon in August 1967 where he is professor of military science and head of the ROTC department at West Texas State University.

Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith and his oldest son, Richard, 10, are both athletic fans, according to Mrs. Smith. She said they enjoy the games and scrimmages and Richard is teaching the younger members of the family the finer points of the game. Richard is a fifth grade student.

Other children of the couple are James, 5; Margie-Ruth, 4; and Steven, 2.

They are members of St. Paul Lutheran Church and he has joined the Canyon Rotary Club and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, teachers honorary society.

Now working on the master's degree in education at WT, Lt. Col. Smith had completed the bachelor of education degree at the University of Tennessee, before joining the service. He also had previous work on his masters degree at the University of Wisconsin, and is minor-ing in journalism.

"When Daddy isn't at summer camp," said Mrs. Smith, "we all enjoy picnicking at the canyons."

"Being a service wife is a job in itself," she commented, "as the wife just makes home where the husband hangs his hat."

At Oklahoma State University, Mrs. Smith was studying interior decorating and plans to resume her studies when the children have all reached school age. "I have kept up the study with practical experience in decorating the various places we have lived," she concluded.

The recipes which she shares are:

dish:
1 cup vinegar
1/2 cup soy sauce
1 heaping cup brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard garlic clove, chopped fine
1/2 cup pineapple juice
Place pork chops in above sauce and let stand for at least six hours. Then bake in moderate oven until chops are well cooked, 1-2 hours.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR CHICKEN
Recipe for six chickens.
1 lb. oleo

1 cup lemon juice
1 med. size onion
1/2 cup white vinegar
1/2 cup salt
1/8 cup worchestershire sauce
1 Tbsp. prepared mustard
1 clove garlic
Saute finely chopped onions in 1/2 cup cooking oil. Add oleo, vinegar and other ingredients. Put lemon rind in mixture and let simmer about 10 minutes. Use a small dish mop to apply sauce to chicken while they are cooking on grill. Mop chicken halves with sauce every 10-15 minutes.

MRS. BILLY R. SMITH and younger children, Steven, 2, Margie-Ruth, 4, and James, 5, on right, are pictured in the family home at 708 Taylor Lane. She shares favorite recipes with our readers this week.

"You need to show us what you base your 100 percent evaluation on and we are obligated to equalize," said Commissioner Jim Fletcher.

Brown said Santa Fe has 48.17 miles of railroad in Randall County.

Bill Francis, independent auditor who does the county's annual audit, told the court that county funds could be invested more efficiently. He suggested buying certificates of deposit in $100,000 denominations with staggered maturity for the county to realize maximum earnings on its funds.

County Clerk Leroy Hutton told the court that it will be necessary for him to send out some 4,000 tax notices to taxpayers whose valuations, though probably not their actual taxes, have been raised.

Randall County Criminal District Attorney George Dowlen told the court that is the opinion of the state's attorney general that the court can retain the Potter-Randall Citizens Committee for some studies but not for others.

He gave as an example the study of indigents and their needs in the county as permissible and study of the Omnibus Crime Bill as one that would not be legal.

No action was taken.

The court agreed not to oppose a request by American Zinc & Refining Company to the Texas Air Control Board for an additional year to study reduction of zinc oxide emission by the plant. The extension has been sanctioned by Dr. G. Mason Kahn, head of the Bi-City County Health Unit.

In other business, Judge Carroll Brown told the court that he has been notified that Hunsley Hills Golf Club of Canyon has applied to the Texas Liquor Control Board for a license to operate a private club.

She said she told two friends what had happened but no one else until she related her story to officers and a Canyon physician who examined her. "I was ashamed," she said.

She was picked up Monday by Deputy Sheriff Reedy McDonald and brought to Canyon.

She told officers her assailant would have teeth marks and scratches on his body.

Mike Hinton, assistant district attorney, said there were evidences of bite marks on Williams' shoulder after his arrest.

Hinton said Williams came to the district attorney's office here upon request of authorities. He was arrested in the DA's office Wednesday morning.

Three other indictments were returned Wednesday by the grand jury.

City Pool Won't Open Saturday

The city swimming pool in Conner Park will not open as scheduled Saturday, according to Bob Schneider, who is in charge of the pool's operation.

Schneider said workmen who are painting and sandblasting the pool will not be finished in time for the regular opening.

"We hope to have the pool open by the first weekend in June," he said.

Conference For Church In Lubbock

Annual conference for Methodist churches will convene at 2:30 p.m. today, Thursday, at the First United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Representing the local church will be Rev. J. Frank Peery, pastor; Mattie Sue Howell, director of Christian education; and lay delegates, Bob West and Art Roberts.

Sunday workshop at the local church will include the sacrament of holy communion at both the 8:45 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. worship services where the meditation by the pastor will be "Handling Guilt-Edged Living" from Luke 15:21.

No evening worship will be conducted on Sunday. Pastoral assignments will be made during the Sunday conference session.

"Recognizing that most Americans choose to be inactive, preferring to let machines do their work and play their games. Exercise today is no longer automatic and opportunities for exercise must be made such as walking to the store, participating in active sports and other routine type activities."

"Exercise must become a part of the daily pattern for living if it is to be an aid in weight control."

Mrs. Hall also stated that "many changes in food patterns have occurred during the past 50 years."

"Some of these changes," she said, "concern the food we have available, some the way we cook and others the value which our culture places upon food. Food now means more to us than just something to appease hunger."

"In our present culture, many family attitudes toward food are 'caught' in the early childhood--such as the Clean Plate Policy and after-meal snacks."

"Snacking is a Twentieth Century road to extra calories," she stated.

"A safe eating program should include foods from the four basic food groups which includes two servings daily of meat, fish, poultry, dried beans, peas or legumes, 4 servings of bread and cereal products; four or more servings of fruit and vegetable and the calcium equivalent of one cup of milk per day for adults.

Magazine Recognizes P-P Museum

Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum has been recognized in the June 1969 issue of "Woman's Day".

In an article entitled "Family Vacation Bargains" by Michael Frome, the museum is mentioned under the heading that "the best in America is free or almost so".

The article's author states that vacationers should "concentrate on displays and guided walks in national and state parks, national forests, national wildlife refuges, the great publicly owned museums and art galleries."

"Compose a list of noteworthy destinations that both you and your children can enjoy and benefit from. (He includes here the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, Texas as among other attractions across the country.)

The article concludes with the statement that "the real value in going places depends far less on the amount of money you spend than on your outlook. Start with the concept of travel as an adventure so individualized that only you and your family can plot your course. Then let your vacation become an expression of freedom and your own good taste."
